

NEW CLAIMS

New independent claim 19 recites:

A washing method comprising the steps of:

(A) washing an object to be washed using a hydrocarbon washing agent;

(B) washing the object using alcohol after the step (A);

(C) washing the object using an aqueous solution including an emulsifier after the step (B); and

(D) washing the object using a water after the step (C).

In claim 19, the expression "a hydrocarbon washing agent" has been used instead of "hydrocarbon solution" that is now used in claim 1.

Nishi does not disclose washing an object to be washed using a hydrocarbon washing agent and then washing the object using alcohol. As noted above, since a hydrocarbon washing agent is not disclosed as the washing agent in Nishi, a person of ordinary skill in the art would have no realistic motive to utilize one of alcohols of Sherman as the detergent in the method of Nishi. Thus, claim 19 is patentable over Nishi and Sherman considered alone or in combination.

New claims 20-25 depend from claim 19 with claims 23-25 being related to non-elected claims 2-3 and 12-13. As new independent claim 19 is patentable over the applied prior art references, new dependent claims 20-25 are patentable over the applied prior art also. Therefore, the allowance of new claims 19-25 is respectfully solicited.
